

By Supporting Donald Trump, You Indicate That You Believe the Following...

You believe character is not all that important in the President of the United States, although you thought it was super important with previous presidents.

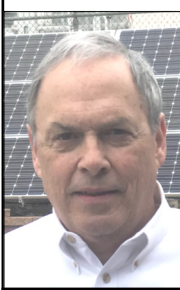

You believe that Supreme Court justices should be "originalists." Originalists believe the constitution should be interpreted based on the founding fathers' original intent. If so, that means you support slavery and oppose all kinds of rights for women.

You believe that the 2nd Amendment was written not only to allow the arming of state militias but to allow anyone to purchase unlimited military grade weapons so they can take up arms against the state if, in their own mind, they consider the current elected government tyrannical.

You don't allow yourself to believe there is systemic racism in America, dismissing any and all evidence of it.

Talking Turkey

By JIM SMITH

You believe it is okay for the Commander in Chief to disparage war heroes, to call Sen. John McCain a loser, and to order the White House flag raised after it had been lowered to half staff upon the Senator's death.

You believe that it was okay for the President to tell Americans that Covid-19 was no more virulent than the flu, even after he was on tape telling Bob Woodward that it was five times more deadly.

You accept that the free press is the "enemy of the people," and that opposition to the president is treasonous, resulting in cases of police intentionally targeting reporters covering demonstrations with rubber bullets and Mace.

You believe the president's Twitter feed, Fox News and radio talk shows are all you need to be fully informed.

You don't believe any of the criticism of Donald Trump written or spoken by persons who worked closely with him, including the man who wrote The Art of the Deal, or his longest-serving national security advisor, John Bolton. You think they're all lying, and just out to make money telling lies.

You believe immigrants have no value to America and are taking jobs from Americans who truly want to pick your vegetables and replace your roofs. You think immigrants don't pay taxes and are living off your money.

You agree that "dreamers" who have lived here since infancy and known only America should be deported to their parent's country. You think it's just fine to separate children from their immigrant parents and not track their location for eventual reunification.

You believe that black, Hispanic and Muslim members of Congress who are American citizens elected by their districts should be deported to the countries of their parents or ancestors.

You believe that mere accusation of wrongdoing, without hearing or trial, by the president is all that is required to "lock up" political opponents. Due process doesn't apply to them. (Does this sound like authoritarianism yet?)

You think it's okay for the President to insult our allies for almost anything but not criticize, much less accuse, Vladimir Putin of poisoning his political opponents. It's also okay to withhold criticism of (and sell arms to) the Saudi Crown Prince, who ordered the killing and dismemberment of a Washington Post columnist he didn't like.

You believe that climate change is a hoax, that we don't need to worry about rising sea levels or more severe hurricanes and forest fires. You don't ask why the Pentagon declared climate change a national security issue.

You believe that we need to keep subsidizing the fossil fuel industry and stop subsidizing clean energy.

You believe we don't need environment protections. It's okay to let our air and water be polluted again for profit.

You believe that there is rampant killing at birth of full-term babies.

You believe that Joe Biden is a stalking horse for Communists who hate America and want to make the United States into a dictatorship like Venezuela. You don't ask why anyone would want to destroy their own country. (I'm beginning to think you do!)

I have run out of space to list the crazy things you have to believe if you support Donald Trump for re-election. I'll add more examples on my blog!
